

Boy Scout Troop 505

2005 - 2006

June/July - Sea Base High Adventure - Sailing snorkeling, and fishing in the Florida Keys and Bahamas. Who said high adventures had to be a challenge?

July - Summer Camp at Ransburg - Two weeks of learning getting to know each other better. We kept the infirmary busy, but everyone made it back. Do you think it could have gotten any hotter?

September - Feast of the Hunter's Moon - Reliving the days of trappers and explorers. Oh, and sampling homemade root beer too. Did someone say turn up the heat?

October Canoeing the Rock River - Beautiful weather, great campsite... just pay no attention to the duck hunters on the river near our take-out-point.

November- Climbing the Silos - Raised the roof returned to a huge Thanksgiving feast. When the winds kicked up, others left - but the hearty 505'ers toughed it out!

December - Survival - Wind Chills below zero and heavy snow forced a postponement until March -- but we'll try again in December next year!

January - Ski Trip - Lots of sun and snow made for crowded slopes, but everyone had their fill by the end of the day. Now what was survival tip #1407?

February - Submarine Campout - DUCK!! The first night in the submarine was great. Tours of the ship and the trip to the aircraft museum was well worth the drive. Everyone learned what a scuttlebutt is.

March - Advancement and Survival - Welcome to our new scouts! Lots of teaching and sharpening our skills -- plus shelter-building by our older scouts. So how many different ways can a shelter and cooking fire be built?

April - Devil's Lake Campout - Great weather, beautiful scenery, who says heaven does not exist in central Wisconsin?

May - Orienteering - Over the river and through the woods at Camp Wokanda in Peoria. Despite the drizzle, Mr. English, our master of the compass, challenged even the best of us.

July - Summer Camp at Ransburg - Wanted: lakefront property in central Indiana for a week of fun and new skills. Delivered: our favorite summer place, Camp Ransburg.

July/August - Philmont Scout Ranch - Use those orienteering skills to navigate through the mountains. Hiking, interesting activities, and many challenges.
